

Paired-noise input probe: finger position drives the premature closure

